Moderator: Amanda Feinstein, Walter and Elise Haas Fund

Amanda Feinstein is the Senior Program Officer for Economic Security at the Walter and Elise Haas Fund in San Francisco. In this capacity she developed and manages a grantmaking program that promotes economic advancement for low-income families and communities through workforce development, asset building and community development strategies. Previously, Amanda oversaw welfare to work training contracts and developed new workforce training initiatives as project manager at the San Francisco Department of Human Services. She also was the founding director of the San Francisco Council on Homelessness a non-profit policy and advocacy organization; and worked as an aide to a member of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. Amanda has two decades of experience working in the non-profit, government and philanthropic sectors on a variety of issues related to ameliorating poverty. She has a Masters in Public Administration from the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University and a Bachelors in Sociology from Antioch College.
